Flute Supply List

Brands and models listed are selected for their quality, features, and value. All models have been tested and approved by Ms. Harsha, local teachers and local professional musicians. Rental prices vary by retailer and range from $18-40 per month.

Instrument Brand and Model

Recommended Model: Yamaha YFL-261 (open hole)

Comparable Model: Armstrong 1030S (open hole)

Why an open hole flute? Flutes are originally designed to be open hole. Closed hole flutes were invented for the elementary aged beginner in mind (some school districts start beginners as young as 4th grade). Open hole flutes provide better tone quality and ensure proper finger position (clarinets are open hole instruments and actually have bigger open holes, yet do not have a closed hole option!). The flutes listed above are open hole, but come with tone hole plugs for beginners to use for the first few months of playing. We will start removing one plug at a time throughout the school year.

Accessories to purchase at time of rental

Rovner Dark

Why a Vandoren mouthpiece and Rovner ligature? The mouthpiece and ligature (secures the reed to the mouthpiece) are the heart and soul of a clarinet player's sound. While a quality instrument like the Buffet B12 is also a key part of a successful sound for your child, the mouthpiece and ligature are as important. Think of the instrument itself as the chassis of a car and the mouthpiece and ligature as the engine! With this mouthpiece and ligature, your child's sound/tone will be fantastic!

Rental prices vary by retailer and range from $18-70 per month.

Recommended Model: Yamaha 448G (F attachment/trigger trombone)

Comparable Model: Bach TB200B (F attachment/trigger trombone)

Mouthpiece Brand and Model (included as part of rental)

Bach 6 ½ AL, Large Shank mouthpiece

Why an F attachment/trigger trombone? An F attachment is also called a trigger trombone. Compared to a student model “pea shooter” model, it has one piece of extra tubing, a rotor, and a trigger. The advantage of this type of trombone for middle school students is arm length. The trombone uses 7 slide positions to change notes. For most 6th and 7th graders, 6th and 7th position are very challenging for their shorter arms to reach, so students are forced to compensate by stretching their fingers, arm, shoulder and torso into an extended position (some shorter 6th and 7th graders cannot reach these positions at all!). An f attachment allows players to use the trigger in 1st position (the closest position to their body) to play 6th position and use the trigger in 2nd position for 7th position. At first it may seem strange to create this attachment for a few notes, but the 6th position note “C” is one of the first five notes students learn and is a note they use very frequently in band music! In addition, f attachment trombones feature a bigger bore/tubing size allowing students to produce a fuller warmer sound than a traditional trombone.

Mallets

Balter Basics Model BB8 (Blue)

Why a practice xylophone/marimba or rosewood bell kit? Students at other schools in the district switched to these a few years ago to inspire percussionists to learn mallets on a quality instrument. They used to use bell kits and the students despised them! Bell kits are challenging to play due to their smaller keys and hard mallets, however if you do choose the rosewood bells kits, students will learn to play with a much more musical sound and the name of each bar will NOT be visible (this is really a good thing!). In the beginning of playing percussion it is important for kids to play with a big solid sound and metal bell kits cannot be played this way. Practice xylophone/marimbas have larger keys and sound great. This allows kids to play a full stroke and inspires them to play mallets more. Rosewood bell kits have a much better sound! Since switching to these instruments we have seen percussionists' confidence and achievement increase substantially and equally important, they enjoy practicing mallets!
